REVIEW OF MARKETS

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Stocks, Money, Exchange, Bonds, Grain, Cotton, Provisions, Etc.

New York, March 10.—The trading in stocks was largely confined to-day to operations by board room operators as has been the case during the whole week. But there was some small but significant buying from outside sources, especially manifest in the taking of fractional lots of stocks for investment, which proved the attractiveness of the present level of prices to those who are not dependent upon ordinary money market vicissitudes for holding stocks for the dividend returns which they yield. The wide distribution of the dealings also added to the healthy appearance of the market. The character of the bank statement was so confidently foreseen that its appearance was not awaited for the closing up of professional contracts. The traders have been on the short side of the market quite uniformly during the week, so that the closing up of contracts stiffened the market very appreciably.

People's Gas and Sugar were notably in demand before the bank statement, but were sold off again, together with the local traction stocks. The obvious unwillingness of prices to yield on the bank statement drove the bears to gover again. Sugar advanced an extreme 3½, and People's Gas 2, and the whole list rose to the highest level of the morning with more show of animation in the dealings than has been evident for several days. The bank return was fully as weak as was expected.

The strength of the day's market must be attributed to a faith that speculative commitments being small the market is not very vulnerable to a temporary money squeeze. Beyond a temporary stripage.

speculative compilements being small the market is not very vulnerable to a temporary money squeeze. Beyond a temporary stringency, the new currency and refunding law is confidently looked to for speedy relief. There is an undercurrent of sentiment also that some of the recent heavy loan expansion would be readily convertible and transferable, in case of any urgent need of credits, without doing damage to present borrowers. This would be true of such portion of the recent loan expansion as has gone into government honds with a view to taking out additional note circulation.

The railroad bonds have been in good demand, part of the buying being attributed to pressure of funds realized from the selling of government bonds by investment holders to banks. United States old 4's and 5's advanced 1 percent. 3's coupon 3' and do. registered 4'. New 4's declined 3' and do. registered and the 2's 3' in the bid price.

The total sales of stocks to-day were 181.400 shares.
